

Creating Connections that Count

PARENTS / EDUCATORS - FREE EVENT!

Date:
TUESDAY,
MARCH 24TH
7PM

Location:
BARKALOW
MIDDLE SCHOOL

TY SELLS

Humor & Heart

Two of the qualities Ty Sells brings to audiences across the country. His professional development in-services and presentations help create meaningful youth engagement and allow schools or youth groups to create and maintain a positive culture.

Creating Connections that COUNT.

Exciting & Interactive

"Creating Connections That Count" gives adults practical ways they can make students feel valued and cared for so the adult can then influence behavior.

Adults will learn the 5 key principles to be more effective with students; how to build conducive environments to create connections; along with techniques to inspire youth.

"Creating Connections that Count" can also be tailored to parents of adolescents helping them learn ways to connect positively with their own children.

Refreshments will be served!